Seaman Strike Is Deadlocked

Goldberg Reports Little Progress

NEW YORK (UPI) — Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg held a series of new meetings in the U.S. maritime strike Friday and reported he had been unable to chart a course for a settlement.

Goldberg declined comment on whether President Kennedy might seek a Taft-Hartley Act injunction to end the strike by five maritime unions. The unions called the walkout early Friday despite an appeal from Kennedy.

"What the President will do, the President alone will do," Goldberg said.

Goldberg cancelled plans to fly to Stockholm Saturday night so he could continue his efforts here. He had planned to study a successful employment program in Sweden en route to Geneva to address the international labor organization next week.

The first picket line violence was reported Friday morning, when workers at a waterfront refinery tried to cross a National Maritime Union (NMU) picket line near Camden, N.J. Three men were injured, and four were arrested.

Full effects of the strike by 82,000 seafarers who man about 1,000 U.S.-flag vessels would not be felt until the ships reach American ports and tie up for the duration. But a protracted strike could be a near disaster for the Merchant Marine, could hamper industries along the Eastern seaboard and upset American vacationers' plans to go abroad on U.S. passenger liners.

Foreign passenger liners and cargo vessels were not affected and continued sailing.

Ships on all three coasts and Great Lakes ports were picketed or were watched by union "observers" to make sure no replacement crews were brought in. Longshoremen and Teamsters promised not to cross the picket lines.

It was disclosed the labor secretary held a secret meeting with Joseph Curran, president of the powerful NMU. Spokesmen for Curran and Goldberg would not reveal what was said in the meeting.

Meets With Leaders

Goldberg also met with Paul Hall, head of the Seafarers International Union, and Jesse M. Calhoun, chairman of the National Committee for Maritime Bargaining, which represents four of the unions involved in varying degrees in the strike, and Ralph E. Casey, president of the American Merchant Marine Institute.

Casey said "I see no hope for settlement at the moment." He warned that the strike might be "long and devastating."

The five striking unions are the National Maritime Union, the Seafarers International Union, the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association, the Masters, Mates and Pilots Union, and the American Radio Association.

Major issue is the unions' demand that about 500 U.S.-owned ships flying foreign flags be brought under any new contract. The unions contend shipowners registered their ships under foreign "flags of convenience" to avoid U.S. standards on wages and working conditions. Shipowner representatives said the purpose was tax benefits and lower operating costs, and said they had no authority to bargain on the "illegal" issue.

Because of his strategic position on the House Rules Committee, Delaney apparently is in a position to enforce his demands. Kennedy's public school bill is before the group and Delaney's vote is needed to clear it for floor action.

Delaney told United Press International he would not vote for the public school bill until the rules committee cleared the parochial aid bill. He also said he would prefer that the House act first on the parochial aid bill, but was not inclined to insist on that.

The Air Force kept the payload a secret, as it had on recent shots. It is known, however, that a prime Discoverer mission is testing sky-spy camera equipment for the upcoming Samos satellite surveillance system.

There is no secret about Air Force determination to improve the performance record. The series' basic goal is development of

So far, seven Discoverers have failed to orbit. There have been but four capsule recoveries since the series began Feb. 28, 1959.

Discoverer 25, an Agena-B second-stage orbital vehicle atop a Thor booster, rose from its pad at 4:03 p.m. Pacific Daylight Time.

The missile was launched in heavy fog with about 1/4-mile visibility. Observers more than a mile away couldn't see either the

U.S. To Send More Direct Aid To Laos

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States agreed Friday to send additional and more direct aid to the pro-Western government of South Viet Nam in its stubborn battle against Communist guerrilla invaders.

South Viet Nam's chief cabinet minister, Nguyen Dinh Thuan, and American officials reported the agreement after Thuan completed three days of conferences with administration and congressional leaders.

They said the United States, following up Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson's recent mission to Saigon, had agreed:

—To increase the 685-man U.S. military advisory group in Viet Nam; assign U.S. specialists to direct training of Vietnamese troops; and send U.S. officers in to the field with Vietnamese forces to observe training techniques in action against the guerrillas.

—To help pay salaries and supply all arms for 20,000 troops to be added to the 150,000-man South Viet Nam army. This will be in addition to an additional $40 million in arms aid promised by Johnson.

The United States also agreed to supply arms for all, rather than part, of Viet Nam's 60,000-man civil guard. This means fixed positions will be established to protect Vietnamese villages against Communist night raiders.

The civil guard is being brought under army command, a step advocated by U.S. advisers.

A six-man U.S. mission, headed by Dr. Eugene Staley of the Standard Research Institute, left Friday for South Viet Nam to advise President Ngo Dinh Diem's government on economic and military aid. One of the mission's jobs will be to consider long-range economic aid programs designed to raise Vietnamese living standards.

Airline Hostess Given Ten Years On Smuggling Charge

NEW YORK (UPI)—A French airlines hostess collapsed in tears and had to be helped from a Brooklyn courtroom Friday after she was sentenced to 10 years in jail on charges of smuggling heroin into the United States.

Simmone Marcelle Christmann, 36, was arrested by customs agents at International Airport last March as she left an Air France jet just in from Paris. A search disclosed that she carried four plastic packets, containing an estimated $500,000 worth of heroin.

Federal Judge Walter Bruchhausen imposed two 10 year sentences, to run concurrently. He could have imposed a sentence of from five to 20 years on each count and fined her up to $20,000 on each count.

Plans are for a recovery try after from one to four days. The Air Force likes to keep Discoverers in orbit as long as possible before ejecting the 300-pound instrument capsule, so instruments may gather a maximum of data.

The recovery technique: ejection over Alaska, with cargo planes to try to snatch the capsule's parachute as it drifts down near Hawaii. Ships to get it if the planes miss.

West Germans Defy Mr. Khrush

U.S. Troops Are Issued Instructions

BERLIN (UPI) — Bonfires blazed along the borders between West and East Germany Friday night in memory of the workers uprising against the Communists eight years ago and as a defiant gesture to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

The U.S. Army said Thursday American troop strength in Berlin remained at 5,000 of which 4,000 are combat troops. All U.S. troops have been ordered to attend a series of lectures on how to defend the city against Communists.

Fiery West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt called a massive rally Saturday to mark the uprising that was crushed by Soviet tanks and guns three years before the rebellion in Hungary by freedom fighters.

The East German government delivered angrily worded notes to the American, British and French governments. They protested the rallies as provocations, a serious threat to peace and proof that West Germany is plotting the conquest of other nations.

East Germany is not recognized by the West and the notes were delivered to the Western embassies in Prague. The notes said the rallies were organized by West German militarists and agitators in the same way the Nazis prepared World War II.

West Germany and West Berlin scheduled rallies, torchlight parades and demonstrations for Saturday — some of them at the border itself. The entire city was hurling defiance at Khrushchev and his latest threats to end allied occupation rights by the end of the year.

The widely circulated newspaper B. Z. echoed the feelings of free Berlin which has survived a Soviet blockade. "Khrushchev has called free Berlin a bone in his throat," the B. Z. said. "We say to him: You will never swallow us."

Stevenson Is Welcomed At Lima, Peru

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — Ambassador Adlai Stevenson arrived Friday to a warm official welcome in this capital city where students threatened to give him a worse time than they gave Vice President Richard M. Nixon who was stoned and spat upon during a visit in 1958.

Despite the large and friendly official turnout to greet Stevenson, the setting was strikingly similar to that in the Bolivian capital of La Paz where five persons were killed and 16 wounded in anti-government riots when Stevenson stopped there Thursday as President Kennedy's special envoy.

Stevenson has been termed "persona non grata" by the leftist and pro-Castro Federation of University Students which planned demonstrations against him.

At the same time anti-Communist students called an urgent meeting to protest "Communist domination" of the university student body and authorities feared clashes between the two groups.

Police and combat troops ringed Lima's airport where Stevenson landed at 11:36 a.m. They were stationed along the highway leading into the city and around the U.S. Embassy residence where Stevenson was staying.

Several hundred persons headed by Prime Minister Pedro Beltran, a personal friend of Stevenson, greeted him at the airport.

"For Peru we in the United States have respect, admiration and affection," Stevenson said in a brief arrival speech. "We value the traditional close friendship we've long enjoyed with your great and historic country."

"And the forthright manner in which you are facing the grave issues confronting our hemisphere today commands our respect and admiration."

The Stevenson motorcade was preceded by a heavy police escort. It threaded through the half-dozen miles of tightly patrolled city streets to the embassy residence without incident, however.

After a preliminary meeting in Beltran's office with a small group of Peruvian economists, Stevenson's schedule called for a formal visit with Beltran and then a call on President Manuel Prado followed by dinner with the chief executive at the presidential palace.

Two Homemade Bombs Explode In Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two homemade bombs exploded in downtown Washington late Thursday night and early Friday. Police promptly began searching for a mysterious telephone caller who said more had been planned to protect the "freedom riders."

White House police were ordered to be extra watchful for any individuals approaching the executive mansion with packages. A spokesman said, however, that the White House force is constantly alert for such emergencies.

The first bomb exploded shortly before President Kennedy left the White House to drive to the Washington Airport to welcome home his wife from her European trip.

The second bomb exploded during the rush hour at 8:30 a.m. EDT, in an outdoor telephone booth at the busy intersection at 15th and Massachusetts Ave. Glass was blown across the street.

The first bomb had been planted in a trash can. It blew the can apart and fragments flew more than 100 feet. No one was reported injured in either explosion. But physicians and hospitals were alerted to report anyone seeking treatment for puncture wounds on the chance that the bomber or bombers may have been injured.

Suspected Assassin Is Suicide

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, D.R. — (UPI) — A suspect in the machine gun assassination of Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo shot himself to death Thursday night as secret police hammered on his door, authorities announced Friday.

The suspect was identified as Roman H. Roman Fernandez, a brother of ousted Defense Secretary Gen. Jose Roman Fernandez who is under arrest on charges of playing a central role in plotting the killing.

His death followed by only a few hours the departure of a special inter-American investigating team which flew back to Washington to make a report on its findings during an eight-day stay here.

According to the government newspaper El Caribe the "direct participation" of both the Roman Fernandez brothers in the Trujillo plot had been definitely established by the government.

His wife told police that Roman Fernandez went to bed at nine p.m. When police knocked on their door at 11:10 p.m., he fired a .32 caliber bullet into his right temple, police said.

UN Diplomat Requested To Leave Country

Nacvalac Accused Of Blackmail To Get Information

By DONALD MAY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States announced Friday it had demanded the ouster of a Czechoslovakian United Nations official who tried to force U.S. secrets out of an American by threatening his fiancée behind the Iron Curtain.

The State Department also revealed that the American, working with FBI agents, strung along the Czech official for a year, feeding him fake secrets.

In a postscript to the latest spy thrillers, the department said the fiancée since has come to this country and married the American. Neither the girl nor the husband, who once worked for a U.S. agency, were identified.

The department did say that the husband was of Czech origin.

The Czech involved in the bizarre case is M. Miroslav Nacvalac, his country's No. 2 diplomat at the United Nations. For some time, according to the State Department, he indicated he wanted to defect to this country but this turned out to be a ruse.

M. MIROSLAV NACVALAC

The State Department issued its report on the case after Czech mission to the United Nations had made public its version in a complaint filed with the world organization.

In the Czech version Nacvalac was a Communist hero who was ordered out of the United States after he refused attempts by American agents to recruit him as a spy. According to the Czechs, Nacvalac "rejected with a resolute protest this brazen offer."

The U.S. and Czech versions agreed on at least one point. There was a meeting last Tuesday in New York's Grispolm Restaurant between Nacvalac and FBI agents. The agents were accompanied by Frantisek Tisler, a former Czech military attaché who defected to the West in 1959.

The State Department said the agents met with Nacvalac because he once had indicated he wanted to defect to the United States. But during the restaurant meeting, it said, it became clear his intentions "were not genuine and were highly suspect."

After that, according to department spokesman Lincoln White, the United States demanded his recall on grounds that he had "abused" his position at the United Nations. White said he would have been allowed to leave quietly if the Czech U.N. mission had kept quiet.

The Czech U.N. delegation said two men claiming to be members of the U.S. Intelligence Service approached Nacvalac in New York's Grispolm Restaurant last Tuesday to recruit him for "espionage collaboration."

The Czechs claimed he refused. Later the same night, they said, the U.S. mission to the U.N. sent the Czech delegation a letter asking that he leave the United States.

But White said Nacvalac "paid sums of money for what he believed to be classified information of the U.S. government." He added that "other important activities of Nacvalac were under close scrutiny by this government."

The State Department spokesman said the Czech girl used as a blackmail bait has since come to this country and she and the American were married.

The exchange of statements raised the possibility that Czechoslovakia had feared a spy case against Nacvalac and had beaten the State Department to the punch with a well-timed propaganda blast.

The Czech delegation, in a formal complaint to the U.N. secretariat, said two men claiming to be members of the U.S. Intelligence Service approached Nacvalac in New York's Grispolm restaurant last Tuesday to recruit him for "espionage collaboration."

Police In Florida Nab Freedom Riders

Refuse To Obey Orders And Disperse

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Florida police stepped in and arrested 13 "freedom riders" and three sympathizers Friday after allowing one day of integration.

One "interfaith" group, made up of ten white and Negro Protestant ministers and rabbis, was taken into custody when members persisted in demands that they be served at Tallahassee's Airport restaurant.

Soviet Refuses To Aid Truce Commission

GENEVA (UPI) — The Soviet Union, co-chairman of the Geneva conference, refused Friday to agree to send planes and equipment to the truce commission despite French statements a ceasefire "does not exist" in Laos.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko met Britain's Malcolm MacDonald, the other co-chairman, for 30 minutes to discuss an urgent appeal from the International Control Commission for light planes, helicopters and other equipment so it can check the truce there.

The spokesman said Gromyko and MacDonald also discussed future procedure for the 14-nation conference. Disputes between East and West have stalemated the month-old conference.

French delegation leader Jean Chauvel bluntly told the session before the Gromyko-MacDonald meeting that "the cease-fire does not exist as yet."

Druggists Convicted Of Fixing Prices

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A U.S. District Court jury Friday found the Northern California Pharmaceutical Association guilty in the government's first criminal case accusing druggists of illegal price fixing.

The association was accused of conspiring to fix prices in 1956-60 with the aid of a schedule prepared by Donald K. Hedgpeth, San Francisco pharmacist. Hedgpeth, 54, also was named as a defendant and also was found guilty by the jury of nine men and three women at the conclusion of an 11-day trial.

The association and Hedgpeth each faced a possible fine of $50,000 and Hedgpeth could be sentenced to a year in prison.

AF Discoverer Goes Into Polar Orbit

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The 25th rocket in the Discoverer satellite series went into polar orbit Friday night, one hour and 45 minutes after blasting into space.

The latest launching was part of a speeded-up endeavor to improve the series' 82 per cent failure record.

The Air Force said tracking stations in Alaska and Hawaii reported the orbiting of the 2,100-pound satellite.

Montgomery Integrates All Public Schools

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — All racial segregation in Montgomery County public schools will end in the next few days.

There are but three all-Negro schools remaining in the county: Rock Terrace in Rockville, Sandy Spring, and Taylor Elementary at Boyds. Two of them, Rock Terrace and Sandy Spring, will close Friday. Taylor Elementary will close Monday.

Taylor Elementary will reopen next fall as an integrated school with 124 white and 60 Negro children.

The two others will be converted to centers for handicapped youngsters.

The remaining 734 Negroes who attended segregated classes this year will enroll in schools nearest their homes.

This is the final step in a gradual desegregation process which began in 1955.

Approximately 4,000 Negro children are now enrolled in Montgomery County schools. Total enrollment is about 80,000.

Negroes Admitted To RE Board
BALTIMORE (AP) — Six Negro real estate operators have been admitted to the Real Estate Board of Greater Baltimore in the last 60 days.

A spokesman for the organization said the admission of Negroes does not represent "a change of policy," because members of all racial groups always have been eligible for membership.

The official said the Negro members were accepted as active realtors by the board of directors after their applications were processed in routine fashion. The organization's membership now totals more than 700.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The grip of the national shipping industry strike tightened on Baltimore Friday, with about 1,800 merchant officers and seamen off the job.

Union officials estimated that the strike had halted about half of the port's maritime shipping. Only five of the dozen ships in port were being picketed, however. A labor spokesman said some crews had been ordered to stay aboard their ships in case of a quick settlement.

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — Police here are investigating the death of a young probationary patrolman, who apparently shot himself while loading his pistol in the police barracks room Thursday night.

Witnesses said the fatal shot fired by Patrolman Donald T. Roll, 23, apparently was accidental. Roll, whose home was in Dundalk, a suburb of Baltimore, joined the Ocean City force only last month. He died Friday, five hours after the shooting at Peninsula General Hospital in Salisbury.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Father's Day prayers for President Kennedy were urged Thursday by former Maryland Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin.

"When even minor ills add to the burdens of the President... it becomes a matter of common concern," McKeldin said.

McKeldin, a Republican, is considered a possible candidate for governor next year. He spoke at a dinner in honor of Stephen C. Cromwell, new executive director of the Department of Employment Security.

Savings, Loan Commission Is Appointed

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Friday appointed a nine-member commission to study the possibility of the State insuring deposits of savings and loan associations.

John S. Shriver of Baltimore, director of the State's Fiscal Research Bureau, was named chairman of the commission.

Other commission members, all of Baltimore, include State Insurance Commissioner F. Douglass Sears; John D. Hospelhorn, Del. Marvin Mandel, D-Balto-5th.

The commission was born as the result of a resolution passed at the recent 90-day session of the General Assembly. The resolution, sponsored by Senate Majority Leader Edward S. Northrop, D-Montgomery, and former Baltimore Sen. Aaron Baer, called for a report to the 1962 legislative session.

Both Northrop and Baer, who has since become a judge on the new Baltimore Municipal Court, denied at the time the resolution was introduced that it had anything to do with the controversial insurance bill that rocked the 1961 session.

The insurance bill, which limited the single risk insurance on savings and loan deposits, affected only one firm — the Security Financial Insurance Corporation, headed by three Baltimore County delegates.

The bill as passed gave Security Financial two years to comply with the provisions.

Northrop and Baer said several other states now insure deposits not backed by the federal government.

Kyle was serving a term of one to two years for larceny and parole violation. Knoll, a two-year stretch for public indecency and passing a worthless check.

The judge ruled that the two must serve out the rest of these sentences.

Factory Output Points Upturn In Business

WASHINGTON (AP)—Increases in factory output boosted the nation's May production rate a solid three points from the April level. June may bring some further gains.

The Federal Reserve Board reported Thursday the over-all production of the country's mills, mines and utilities at 108 per cent of the 1957 average which is used as the basis for comparison. This compared with 105 for April and 102 for the first three months of the year when the recession was at bottom.

The May gains were virtually all in manufacturing, as mine production held steady and utility output rose only 1 per cent. The 108 rate compared with the record high of 111 hit in January 1960.

The report indicated June probably would bring a moderate further increase in automobile production with steel activity showing a less-than-usual decline for the month.

Dr. L. Eugene Cronin, director of the research laboratory operated by the state, will continue as director of the Natural Resources Institute there under the university.

The new laboratory will conduct biological research on Chesapeake Bay problems. The building lies near the bay in Calvert County.

State Raises Doctor's Fees

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Board of Health approved Friday increases of approximately $275,000 in fees to doctors and dentists for services in city and county medical care programs.

Under the medical program for Baltimore City, a doctor now receives $7 a year for each patient assigned to him. County doctors are paid for each visit.

Office visits for county doctors will increase from $2 to $3 a visit; day home calls from $3 to $4, and night or emergency calls from $4 to $5.

The board delayed action on a recommended $1.80 blanket increase in Baltimore City, pending the submission of details on proposed program changes.

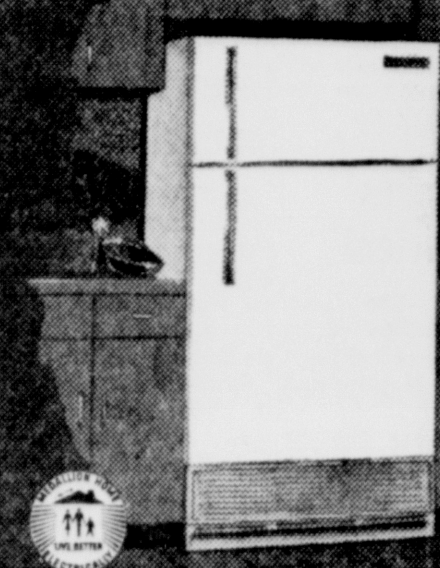

The board's Council on Medical Care had submitted the recommendations. Covered under the medical care programs are welfare clients and medically indigent patients.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

Hair Needs Care? Cut It!

Right now, fashion is on your side if you have problem hair. In a season of short and simple hair styles, let that be your clue to a short and simple solution — cut your hair!

Less hair is easier to work with easier to brush and recondition, easier to shampoo oftener and to set and comb. Since your hair needs a lot of hard work, you may as well make it easy and convenient where you can. If your hair isn't in top condition, that long bob doesn't show to any great advantage and it only makes brushing, massaging and creaming more difficult.

For your first cutting, have a professional stylist cut and shape your short bob. (You or a friend may be able to handle in-between trimming.)

With a professional eye to cal- culate the best proportions for you, after judging the quality and the natural growth pattern of your hair, you should be able to emerge with a becoming version of the smooth bouffant cap, cut to the natural nape, gently shaped into flattering, easy-to-pin comma curls over the ear lobes. This has proved to be an attractive and charming contour for Women of every age, especially adapta- ble and manageable for problem hair.

You'll probably see quicker re- sults from your labors in recondi- tioning a short bob — and that should encourage you to perse- vere. Encouragement is import- ant; too many women give up too soon. It's persistence that finally produces that "shining glory."

If your hair is the fine sort that requires a body-curl permanent, your stylist will tell you. Although she may recommend a waiting period for treatments between the shearing and the curling. She knows it's not wise to rush a permanent if its drying effect will defeat your goal.

Even if your beauty budget per- mits a complete course of pro- fessional reconditioning, you have to do your part. No amount of fancy treatments can make up for home neglect. You are the only one who can administer that daily brushing and stimulating scalp massage. You are the only one who can make sure that

Horse Show To Be Held Tomorrow

Fifteen classes will spotlight the Potomac Valley Riding Club's horse show, being held to- morrow at the Cumberland fair- grounds.

Class 1 is the children's lead line, to be ridden by children who have not reached their seventh birthday, and led by an adult. No child entering this class may ride in any other in the show.

Trophies and six ribbons will be awarded in seven classes. They are the English pleasure horses, to be shown, at a walk, trot, or other pleasure gait and canter, judged on manners and performance. The three-gaited horses to be shown under English tack at a walk, trot and canter, both ways of the ring. The west- ern stock horse to be shown at a walk, gallop without restraint, lope a figure eight, run at speed and stop; turn easily and back readily. The Western pleasure horses to be shown both ways of the ring at a walk, jog and lope on a reasonably loose rein. Children's pleasure horse and pony open to children who have not reached their 14th birthday. To be shown at a walk, trot or easiest gait and canter. Musical chairs and Break and out, with the rider to obey commands of the judge.

Three classes will have a trophy and three ribbons. They are pleasure driving ponies, to be shown at a walk and trot shown to an appropriate vehicle; the rescue ride, and the three-eighths-mile race.

There also will be three with trophy and four ribbons. They include the Tennessee walking horses, shown under English tack at flat-footed walk, running walk and canter both ways of the ring. The five-gaited horses shown with full mane and tail under English tack in walk, trot, canter, slow gait and rack both ways of the ring; and costume parade class with entries to carry full mane and natural tail, to be shown at a walk, and parade gait.

Two trophies and 12 ribbons will be awarded class 13, the pairs under saddle, to be shown at a walk, trot or easiest gait and canter.

Beginning at 1 o'clock, the show is open to the public. Tickets may be purchased from any member of the club. Clay G. Post, Peters- burg, W. Va., will be the judge, and Walter Whitehair, Terra Al- ta, ring master, with Edwin Al- exander, Frostburg, assistant. Floyd Grace and Paul Ashby are show chairmen and Mrs. Evelyn Hare, secretary. Seymour Evans is in charge of prizes. Mrs. Susan Niernan, trophies and ribbons, and Robert Niernan, programs. Other committee members are Linda Edenhart, ribbon girl; Thomas Ferrebee, ring custodian; Mrs. Mabel Edenhart, treasurer; Lee Welsh, grounds; Mrs. Sarah Grace, Mrs. Ruby Evans and Mrs. Edna Ferrebee, refresh- ments.

Mr., Mrs. Howard Springer To Mark Golden Wedding

The former Miss Leila Helen Day, daughter of the late Mrs. Mary A. Day, Keyser, became the bride of Mr. Springer, son of the late James and Elizabeth Ellen Springer, Westernport, June 22, 1911. The wedding cere- mony was solemnized in the parsonage of First Methodist Church, Cumberland, with Rev. Richard Balthis officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Springer are the parents of five children. Mrs. Walter Johnson, Valley Road; James H. Springer, city; Mrs. Ralph Michael, Valley Road; Mrs. Charles True, Twiggstown; and Richard Springer, Pine Ridge Road. They have 14 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Springer has been em- ployed at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, for the past 17 years. Her hobby is crocheting and she makes bedspreads and table- cloths. Both are members of Bedford Road Baptist Church.

Don't stack more than two cups and saucers together when you are putting them on a buffet table.

Penny Increase In Sales Tax Will Remain

W. Va. House Follows Senate

By CARLO J. SAUZANO
CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A "temporary" penny increase in West Virginia's 2-cent consumer sales tax was continued for another 10 months by the Legislature Friday.

Passage in the House of Delegates, by a 56-34 vote, of the Senate-approved bill paved the way for adjournment late Friday night of a three-day special legislative session. Both houses adjourned at 7:37 p.m. (EST).

The third cent of the sales tax, enacted at the regular Legislature session last January, was to expire at the end of August. Now it will stay on until June 30, 1962—unless continued again by the 1962 Legislature.

It's designed to raise $7 to $8 million for a cooperative federal-state program to make $1-an-hour jobs for an estimated 15,000 or more unemployed West Virginians in the next year. The federal government will put up $7 for every $3 of state money.

An investigation by a Legislature interim committee of state purchasing practices was set up under a resolution adopted by the Senate late Friday. The House Republicans originated the resolution and Democrats went along, insisting "we have nothing to hide."

The extension of the full 3-cent sales tax through next June came in another display of the strength of Gov. W. W. Barron's legislative captains.

The "border" county representative from the Ohio Valley went down fighting although they obviously knew their cause was lost in attempting to block the sales tax extension without a grocery exemption.

They repeated their contentions that grocers and others in West Virginia towns along the Ohio River would suffer heavily from loss of business to cross-river stores in Ohio where foodstuffs are exempted from the Ohio sales tax.

House Democratic leaders, after failing Thursday night to get the necessary votes to suspend rules to pass the Senate-approved sales tax bill immediately, played it carefully Friday.

They decided to let the bill take its course through the second of three required readings on separate days. After the opponents—including almost all Republican delegates and a sizeable group of Democrats—had their say, they apparently were satisfied, knowing they couldn't win in the long run.

The move then was made for the four-fifths majority needed to dispense with a third day reading—which would have meant the Legislature would have had to stay over until Saturday to pass the bill. The vote on suspension was unanimous among those present, 93-0.

In the vote on the bill itself, 19 Democrats joined with 15 Republicans in opposition. Two Republicans voted with 54 Democrats in favor. Some of those Democrats who voted "yea" were not sold on the idea, but they were whipped into line by the leadership.

These Are Summer Scientists

These members of the Kennebec Chapter of Future Scientists of America are participating in the summer study of the flora of Garrett County in conjunction with their sponsor, Kendrick Yale Hodgdon, Valley High School teacher, and West Virginia University. They will meet once a month for extended field trip work, attempting to catalog as many of the flowers of Garrett County as possible. During a recent field trip to Seldom Seen Road, the group found the Moosewood or striped maple, which is indigenous of the Canadian forests, maiden hair ferns and many orchids. Pictured, kneeling left to right, are Delores Miller, Glenna Green, Audrey Bittinger and Mary Frances Engle. Standing, same order, are Bill Robinette, Jackson Green, Carol Eike, Frances Jacobs, Audrey Duggan, Mary Delores Broadwater, Kenneth Turner and Mr. Hodgdon.

Protectionism And Congress

A symptom of the rising protectionism in Congress is the opening of public hearings Monday by the new House subcommittee on "the Impact of Imports and Exports on American Employment." Its chairman, Rep. John Dent (D., Pa.), contends that foreign trade at present is a "one-way street" in which foreign goods flood American markets; the subcommittee's second-ranking Democrat, Rep. Cleveland Bailey (W. Va.), and the ranking Republican, Rep. Carroll Kearns (Pa.), both have sponsored measures to limit imports.

Proponents of a liberal trade policy fear that these hearings—to be continued in various parts of the country this summer and autumn—could become the focal point for protectionist efforts during 1962 when Congress must fashion a new trade program. The Trade Agreements Act of 1958 expires on June 30, 1962.

Protectionist forces in Congress have been heartened by President Kennedy's announcement, May 2, of a program of assistance to the textile industry. The program pointed strongly toward import quotas on goods from competing nations. Now the first hearings of the subcommittee will switch the spotlight to "the impact of imports and exports on the coal industry and related natural gas and residual oil industries . . ." Coal industry representatives of labor and management can be expected to attack the level of residual oil imports now authorized by the Interior Department.

Protectionist rumblings in Congress are likely to remain little more than that, however, so long as this country keeps its favorable merchandise trade balance. U.S. exports last year reached a record high of $19.6 billion while imports actually dropped slightly to $14.7 billion. The resulting merchandise export surplus of $4.9 billion was four times the favorable balance of 1959. Moreover, several authoritative studies have indicated that American job losses from the competition of low-cost imports have been exaggerated. Still it can hardly be doubted that support of liberal trade policies has been weakened by the combined effects on employment of recession and rapid auto-

Kremlin Seems Eager For Resumed Testing

WASHINGTON

You run into some pretty extraordinary sets of facts, if you try to learn all the elements bearing on the President's pending decision about the resumption of nuclear tests.

For example, it is quite likely that the Kremlin is downright anxious for the United States to resume testing, so that urgently needed Soviet nuclear tests can be publicly passed off as mere justifiable international tit-for-tat.

This view has just gained strong support from the virtual ultimatum the Soviets have now injected into the Geneva test ban talks. The ultimatum looks very much like an indirect attempt to torpedo the talks without further ado, after which the Kremlin must expect this country to resume tests. But the belief in the Kremlin's eagerness to test originated elsewhere, in the American scientific assessment of the available data concerning Soviet ICBMs.

Assuming the correctness of the data, Soviet intercontinental missiles of the first generation are remarkably unwieldy weapons, weighing 700,000 to 800,000 pounds. Their warhead is enormous—seven to eight megatons. But it is still an unsatisfactory warhead, in the sense that the ratio of weight to destructive power is substantially poorer than the weight-for-bang ratio of the best American warheads. In sum, the weight of the Soviet H-bomb warhead has forced the Soviets to defer their first-generation ICBMs as primarily city-destroyers.

The Soviets badly need better warheads for less cumbersome and costly ICBMs, like our solidly-fueled Minuteman, for instance. Few believe they have made the enormous effort to dig the gigantic underground holes required for semi-concealment of tests of warheads in the megaton ranges. Some believe they are actually planning a series of atmospheric tests. Others hold they have prepared a series of underground tests, but without the very big holes that muffle the explosions.

In any case, as already stated, it seems very likely they want to test more than we do. That does not mean, however, that there are not rather urgent practical reasons for resumed American testing. Getting a better weight-for-bang ratio is, once again, the most immediate reason.

When the Minuteman design was approved, heavy sacrifices in warhead weight and power were made to get a missile small enough to be placed in "hardened" firing-sites and even to be moved about by rail if need be. More than one member of the present Scientific Advisory Council believed at the time that we ought to have accepted a more cumbersome Minuteman of about double the designed size, in order to secure more power in the warhead.

By Joseph Alsop

Resumed American testing will give Minute Man the stronger warhead which the scientific dissenters originally called for; and it will greatly increase Polaris efficiency too. But this is not all resumed testing will do. It will open the way for American development of neutron-flux bombs—the better, brighter weapons of the future, which will merely kill all living things within their range, while leaving intact all valuable inanimate objects, such as cannon, factories, and apartment houses.

More has been learned about this new nightmare since the last report about it in this space. Contrary to former information, neutron-flux bombs can indeed be tested in the atmosphere, although a full-scale test may require a tunnel five miles long. They are not just around the corner, either; development may take five to ten years.

By itself, moreover, the neutron-flux bomb as presently conceived will be mainly a tactical weapon, with a killing range measured in mere thousands of yards—able to take out the Pentagon, but not Washington, for instance. But a neutron-flux bomb can also serve as the trigger of an H-bomb. And if these new bombs turn out to be practical, they will also be very cheap, requiring hardly more than 1/100th of the investment which is needed to build a comparable atomic bomb.

In one sense, cheapness is the key characteristic. Five-and-dime nuclear weapons, and do-it-yourself H-bombs will eventually become available to all, if the theory of the neutron-flux bomb proves to be correct. Obviously, the interests of the United States, and one must add, the interests of the Soviet Union, will not be served by this development. By the same token, the Soviets will probably make a somewhat greater immediate gain than the United States will make, from early tests to improve current warhead designs.

It can be seen, then, why the President's decision about resuming testing appears complex to many of his advisers. The decision is further complicated by world opinion, so-called, which is frankly nervous about nuclear testing. Yet there is one fault in the central argument about "who gains more?"

It is the same argument that was made against U.S. development of the H-bomb. It was a well-founded argument, even then, except for one point. The decision was not in the hands of the United States alone. It is probably true that we should be better off if H-bombs had proved impossible to build. But where should we be today, if we had refrained from building an H-bomb, and the Soviets had gone ahead?

The same ugly logic, alas, appears to apply to the decision about testing which now confronts the President.

MEETING IN VIENNA — Authoritative word on the Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting in Vienna plainly shows that the conference did not contribute to any significant rise in the temperature of the cold war.

Khrushchev was his old intractable self, filled with the same old Communist distortions of history, and a victim of more than 40 years of Soviet illogic that has become an ingrained part of the regime's historical and economic points of reference.

It is reported on good authority that Kennedy could find no encouragement for a reasonable basis for negotiation on any of the current problems that so beset international relations. He found Khrushchev unyielding on Berlin, Laos, activities in the newly formed African states, and, perhaps even more alarming, an indifference on nuclear test ban negotiations.

This latter point, in particular, has deeply disturbed some of Kennedy's advisors who retain vestiges of the hopes when negotiations began that an agreement could become a model for the solution of other tension-making problems.

It would be wrong, however, to write off the K-K meeting as a failure. In Washington and most of the free world capitals, the fact that the meeting occurred is considered a definite plus. This reasoning is based on the belief that there can be no discussions until the principals have agreed to meet, and the Vienna conference can properly be considered a prelude to a new effort to reduce tension.

Any assessment of the results of the meeting must take into account the fact that Kennedy has receded from his pre-inauguration position opposing such summitry until the subject matter has been prepared at lower diplomatic levels. The mere fact of Russian knowledge that Kennedy has stepped back from this position is a measure, for them, of the degree of firmness they can expect when and if actual negotiations exist.

Hard Water, Hard Arteries And Loose Hair

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The belief is common that hard water contributes in some way to hardening of the arteries. I suppose the assumption is that the ingredients that make water hard must do the same to the arteries. This type of reasoning has led to many misconceptions.

Dr. Henry A. Schroeder of Dartmouth made a nationwide survey of drinking water and its relationship to death rates. The only correlation he found was that mortality from diseases of the heart and arteries was below the national average in hard water states and above the average in two-thirds of the soft water states. Hard water may be the curse of the housewife but it is less likely than soft water to play a role in arteriosclerosis. The addition of chlorine or fluoride to water has no effect upon the heart and blood vessels.

The injection of a hormone brings about a regrowth of the eyebrows in those with a total or extensive loss of hair. A suitable corticosteroid was used for this purpose by Dr. R. A. Berger with good results in 17 of 22 patients. Fuzziness appeared in 14 days and a definite growth after 21 days. The treatment can be repeated in one to six weeks after the eyebrows begin to fall out again.

The procedure is not as easy as it sounds. Approximately 20 separate punctures must be made into each eyebrow area. This is painful and swelling remains for 24 hours.

There are said to be 100,000 hairs on the human head. According to Dr. Albert M. Kilgman, of the University of Pennsylvania medical school, approximately one-fourth of the crop must be lost before the fall is noticeable.

Temporary hair loss may follow mental or physical stress. The loss varies from 100 to 1,100 or more hairs a day. This may escape notice, especially in women, who are able to hide their balding tendency better than can men.

A summer stock company was doing "Springtime for Henry" one week, with "Arsenic and Old Lace" featuring Boris Karloff, scheduled for the week following.

In the middle of Act Two of "Springtime for Henry," a bat suddenly whooshed out of the eaves and brushed the face of the male lead of "Springtime for Henry." Very calmly that resourceful gentlemen waved the bat away and said very clearly, "No, no, you fool! NEXT WEEK. NEXT WEEK."

The bat flew away and the relieved audience applauded madly.

The last remaining "bachelor girl" in a big office appeared radiantly one morning and began to pass out cigars to all and sundry. "What's the big idea?" chorused her cohorts. Proudly she displayed a diamond ring and

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Fruits Of Vienna

It becomes more clear every day that Khrushchev regarded his Vienna meeting with President Kennedy as a means for starting trouble. Although Kennedy did come away from Vienna in a somber mood, his address to the American people gave the impression that conditions are not as bad as they looked. Actually, they are worse. Khrushchev has used Vienna as a platform to stage a war—hot or cold, as you choose—to destroy Germany and he has again issued a six-month ultimatum.

Khrushchev beyond doubt faces many difficult political problems within the Communist bloc. The cleavage between Soviet Russia and Red China has become a reality and is due to a fundamental difference in view of the essential meaning of Marxism-Leninism. Red China is orthodox in its attitude. Soviet Russia may be said to be rightist deviationist.

Khrushchev's theory that Communism can conquer the world without war, through propaganda, infiltration, corruption and by other means, is logical. Mao Tse-tung, on the other hand, could make good use of a war. It would give him an opportunity to move farther into Southeast Asia and he might even test his strength in Japan. Khrushchev is a very practical man who came up through the party organization; Mao Tse-tung was a professor of philosophy in Peking University and is given to theorizing on the nature of war.

Khrushchev, if his hands were free, would probably try to make a deal, using Great Britain as an honest broker; Mao Tse-tung does not need a deal to exalt his estate, trusting rather to the fecundity of his people and their mobility in Asia. Khrushchev would lose the opportunity to consolidate Soviet Russia's forces should a war occur; Mao Tse-tung does not seek to consolidate his power but rather his aim is to extend his territory and his influence.

Among dictators, the task is not only to hold on to one's position but also to hold on to one's authority. The Communist Party has been a cabal of dictators, each one of whom struts in his own area. Khrushchev can bang his shoe on a table in the United Nations, but he is very polite in party conclaves and in conversations with other rulers of Communist countries.

He is even polite to Tito of Yugoslavia who is utterly independent of Kremlin authority but who regards himself as a Communist and seeks to be so regarded by other Communists. So Hoxha of Albania, small as his country is, by-passes Soviet Russia and forms an alliance with Red China. So Red China itself sends missionaries to every country in Asia, Africa and Latin America to form a union of pigmented peoples. Ultimately, Soviet Russia will be the principal European nation in a welter of colored Communists.

This then is Khrushchev's problem and he does not know how to handle it. Should he move to the West, he may have a Communist uprising against him in which Mao Tse-tung and Enver Hoxha would oppose him. Tito would join such an opposition and even contest its leadership with Mao. The Russians would have to compromise with West Germany to hold their place in Europe.

If on the other hand, Khrushchev decides that the only course left to him is to accept Mao Tse-tung's leadership, it undoubtedly means war with the West. Mao would force Russia to fight the Western powers while the Chinese Communists waited for Soviet Russia to grow weaker. Then they would come in on the kill. It would be a small matter to roll 100,000,000 Chinese into Siberia and Turkestan and thus force upon Khrushchev a problem which he would have no way of handling.

It is with this dilemma in sight that Khrushchev seeks to squeeze another victory out of the West. His assumption is that a victorious leader continues to have strength and power. His greatest victory can be the possession of Berlin which could force West Germany to fight for its life.

This, I think, is where we stand now. It is not a pretty picture. It is, in fact, perilous, as it may lead to a universal fighting war. The time has come for Americans to become serious about the dangers of a fighting war. As things stand, it appears well within our times.

TV Star Works With AMA To Defeat Kennedy Medical Aid For Aged Bill

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Ralph B. Kersey, who operates a newsstand near St. Matthew's Cathedral, noted a young man thumbing through the New York Times the other Sunday morning as worshippers were departing from mass.

The young man needed a hair-cut, and one sock was up over the cuff of his trousers as if he had dressed in a hurry. He kept thumbing through the New York Times as if he wanted to glean all the news that's fit to print without paying for it.

"Young man," finally reproached Mr. Kersey, "that newspaper costs 35 cents. If you want to read it, you can buy it. But don't muss it up."

The young man turned. It was the Attorney General of the United States, Mr. Kennedy, who has grilled labor racketeers and talked tough to the Governor of Alabama, meekly put down The New York Times, paid for a Washington paper, and walked away.

"I felt sorry that I had scolded him," Kersey said afterward. "He looked so browbeaten and rejected — just as if I had spanked him. He went over to the waffle shop on the corner and ordered himself a cup of coffee. I was sorry I had talked that way. He looked so hurt."

Hollywood Star Vs. JFK

Ronald Reagan of Hollywood has pitted his mellifluous voice against President Kennedy in the battle for medical aid for the elderly. As a result it looks as if the old folks would lose out. He has caused such a deluge of mail to swamp Congress that Congressmen want to postpone action on the Medical Bill until 1962.

What they don't know, of course, is that Ron Reagan is behind the mail, also that the American Medical Association is paying for it.

Reagan is the handsome TV star for General Electric who has frequently opened national political conventions with the singing of the Star-Spangled Banner, and who has starred in "Hasty Hearts," "John Loves Mary," and "Voice of the Turtle." He is also a breeder of thoroughbred horses, trainers and jumpers.

Just how this background qualifies him as an expert on medical care for the elderly remains a mystery. Nevertheless, thanks to a deal with the AMA and the acquiescence of General Electric, Ronald may be able to outflank the President of the United States with Congress.

Here are the mechanics behind the Congressional mail which most Congressmen don't know about.

"Operation Coffeecup"

Reagan has transcribed a pitch for the doctors called: "Ronald Reagan speaks out against socialized medicine." This transcription, in turn, is distributed by the AMA to doctors' wives and friends with instructions to bring coffee groups together to listen to Reagan, then go out and write letters to Congressmen. It's called "Operation Coffeecup," and a letter with the Reagan transcription has gone out to every doctor's office with this explanation:

"Physicians have asked doctors' wives to assume full responsibility for operation coffeecup, an all-out effort to stimulate as many letters as possible to Congress opposing socialized medicine and its menace as proposed in the King Bill (the administration's medical bill introduced by Congressman Cecil King, California Democrat).

"Operation coffeecup hinges upon use of the enclosed record, 'Ronald Reagan Speaks Out Against Socialized Medicine,' in informal groups in individual homes to stimulate friends and neighbors to write their Congressmen.

"Informational literature is also enclosed. When you receive this package, don't waste a minute. Follow through with your part in operation coffeecup at once."

"Move On Doc"

What the ladies hear when they gather in coffee groups to hear the sexy voice of Ronald Reagan is this:

"One of the traditional methods of imposing statism or socialism on a people has been by way of medicine. First you decide that the doctor can have so many patients. They are equally divided among the various doctors by the government. But then the doctors are equally divided geographically. So a doctor decides he wants to practice in one town, and the government has to say to him, 'you can't live in that town.'"

Real fact is that the Kennedy Plan for medical aid for the elderly would no more tell doctors where to practice than does the Blue Cross and other medical insurance plans. It would not interfere with private practice any more than the large federal grants for cancer, heart, muscular dystrophy research which the doctors also opposed at first, however, Reagan winds up his pitch with an emotional warning that if the ladies don't write letters to Congress, "one of these days you and I are going to spend our sunset years telling our children and our children's children what it once was like in America when men were free."

John Birch Foo

The man who has done most to combat John Birchism is Congressman J. T. Rutherford, a conservative Texan, who has secured copies of Birch's secret books, signed by him and numbered but not supposed to reach the general public, and is circulating them to voters in his district.

In addition to calling Eisenhower and John Foster Dulles Communists, Birch has this to say about government:

"I had rather have for America, and I am convinced America would be better off with, a government of three hundred thousand officials and agents, every single one of them a thief, than a government of three million agents with every single one of them an honest, honorable public servant."

Get To Know Them

By John Crosby

I've always felt the world needed some device to quick freeze children so they could be transported painlessly from here to there, conceivably in the baggage department. However, alas, it's not likely to come to pass in our lifetime. The alternative is to learn how to enjoy traveling with children. Many people do, curious as that seems.

Viola Weingarten voyaged to Europe and back in 1959 with her two daughters, age 16 and 13, abetted by her husband and lived to write a book about it, called "You Can Take Them With You."

The other day, the thirteen-year-old was asked what she had especially liked about the trip. "I liked the water, the islands, and the sky," said Kathy. "But I did get lonely for kids my own age."

Taken slightly aback by her daughter's candor, Mrs. Weingarten confessed: "Kathy was sort of dragged around — let's face it." Still, these trips have great value, she thinks, because parents get to know their children better than they ever have before.

"We found out the more positive side of our children. We found out Kathy knows much more than we thought she did and we found out Jan had a great sense of humor. Who in this country spends 28 days with their children — day and night! At first you are a little insecure with each other. You think — what will we talk about? Suddenly you're putting down your roots as a group and not as individuals. I feel that the trip did more for us as a family group than anything we've ever done. We all adjusted to each other." "It was the first time," Kathy chimed in, "you thought of the other person conscientiously."

Mrs. Weingarten took over: "It's very different travelling with children, and without them. On one unfortunate boat ride, when we found ourselves stuck in the middle of the water at night, we wondered why we had brought the children. But that was the only time we regretted it. You get more out of going with children because you see double. You see things from an adult's point of view — and from a child's. Now, when I remember a throne in one of the ruins in Greece, I remember Kathy sitting in it, sitting very straight and proud. My memories are populated with my kids."

"Cannes was just like Atlantic City," Kathy interjected. "Venice was the first place in Europe that didn't seem like it was ten minutes from home (which is Pleasantville, New York). In a way, I'd like to live there. We're so protected here. In Greece, people my own age were married already and had children. I don't think I'm in a position to get married right now." And she giggled a 13-year-old giggle.

Had she seen the Colosseum in Rome? She had. And did she feel differently about buildings after seeing the historic buildings of Europe?

"I would feel as badly if they tore down Carnegie Hall as I would if they tore down the Colosseum," said Kathy. "I saw beautiful buildings there and I realized they weren't always there and that somebody had built them and people like me had been looking at them and thinking about them."

Her mother's eyes lit up. "Did you get that, Kathy? So did I."

"And I suddenly appreciated the country a lot more. Not every brick but all of it," said Kathy.

Mrs. Weingarten thought that 18 was the limit when parents should accompany children on their travels. "After that," said Kathy, "it's embarrassing."

"The children should get away from their parents," said Mrs. Weingarten positively. "And learn to be independent. Something is wrong with a kid of 18 who wants to travel with you. But up until that age co-existence is possible."

What drove her to write a book? "It's the first book I've written. The publisher found me. The book started with Kathy. She kept a diary and was writing a piece for her school. We collaborated on a piece for a newspaper travel section. I wrote on traveling with children, Kathy on traveling with parents. Dutton asked me to expand it. It's great to travel with the kids but they shouldn't be around when you're writing a book."

"I kept walking in," said Kathy, "and saying 'I'm not bothering you, am I?' But I guess I was bothering her."

Byrd, who arranged the conference, said it was "a necessary first step for our people in their efforts to rehabilitate the state and stimulate its economy."

"By bringing Washington to West Virginia we have been able to give our people an exposure to the representatives of federal agencies involved in the administration of area redevelopment activities."

Sanders, Rosburg Take Halfway Lead In U.S. Open

Both Get 67s On 2d Round; Brue Has 72

Weather Improves; 36-Hole Showdown Scheduled Today

By DON WEISS

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP) — Doug Sanders and Bob Rosburg, two of the empty swingers of pro golf, led a par-busting charge that had proud, old Oakland Hills reeling Friday and took the halfway lead in the U. S. Open Championship.

A pair of 3-under-par 67s sent punch-swingers Sanders, a 27-year-old former caddy from Ojai, Calif., and pudgy 35-year-old Rosburg, who has parlayed a base-ball grip into an exceptional professional career, into Saturday's double round showdown with 36-hole totals of 139.

Bobby Brue, the intense, fidgety youngster who got "only a little sleep" after his scrambling 69 led the class field Thursday, shot a creditable 72. But he wasn't able to withstand the challenge of Rosburg and Sanders, two experienced, money-winning vets.

The gusty winds of Thursday abated and the 6,907 yard, par 35-70 course shifted under ideal conditions from Ben Hogan's "monster" to a docile puppy.

With Bobby at 141 were former PGA champion Doug Ford, 23-year-old Al Geiberger, one of the "comers" of the touring group from Santa Barbara, Calif., Eric Monty of Los Angeles, Gardner Dickinson of Tequesta, Fla., and Gene Littler of El Cajon, Calif.

Australia's Bruce Crampton, Bobby Harris of Winnetka, Ill., and Bob Goalby of Crystal River, Fla., were at 142. Sam Snead, who matched par with a back nine 33, was at 143 with Hogan, Don Finsterwaldt, Tommy Bolt, and Mike Souchak.

Harris and Monty matched the 67s of Rosburg and Sanders. Littler fired a 86, and there were 69s from Ford, Dickinson and Ted Kroll. The latter had started the day at 78 and wound up at 147.

Also at 147 was Gary Player, the Masters champion from South Africa, after a 72 Friday.

Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., fired a 75 for a 149 total.

Sanders hits with probably the shortest backswing in pro golf—a shoulder-high punch at the ball he says he developed when he was a caddy as a boy.

Chipping, Putting Expert
"We used to sneak out on the course to play a few holes," he said, "and the only way we could be sure to keep the ball straight and keep going fast enough for someone not to catch us was to punch at it."

Rosburg, former star athlete at Stanford, is a chipping and putting master who looks and swings something like a weekend golfer off the tee. He wears glasses, putts hunched over his pudgy middle and has a knack of winding up with the same kind of scores as the most formful, book-styled players in professional golf.

Today's pair of contests will pit Moorefield's league-leading tilters against Manager Kenny Johnson's Mt. Savage Old Germans at Moorefield, and Salisbury's Cardinals at the Lonaconing Carlings. Both games will get underway at 3:30 p.m.

Moorefield, under the direction of Loring "Jimmy" Vance has a 1½ game lead over Barreille's Old Exports and the Hyndman Merchants. The league-leaders have an 8-2 mark while Hyndman and Barreille sport 7-4 records.

Moorefield will be led by a new field manager throughout the rest of the season as Vance has departed to attend summer sessions at Shepherd College. Taking over the reins as manager of the top team will be Curtis "Gus" Smith, former Petersburg High athlete who now serves as head basketball coach at York, Va., High.

In the only meeting to date between Moorefield and Mt. Savage, the Old Germans lost 3-1 at Mt. Savage. Dave Vance getting the decision over Ralph Dickel.

Lonaconing's Carlings, loser last Sunday to Hyndman after upending Barreille on Saturday, will be striving for their fifth win of the campaign when they host Salisbury.

The Cardinals, resting in fourth place with a 6-4 mark, defeated the Carlings 11-8 in their only previous meeting.

Sunday's full slate will find Moorefield at Barreille in the top clash of the day while Mt. Savage will journey to Salisbury and Lonaconing will go to Flintstone for single engagements starting at 2:30 p.m.

The doubleheader between the Frostburg Merchants and the Hyndman Merchants at Hyndman will begin at 1:30 on Sunday.

The two teams originally were slated to meet today, but moved the game ahead to last Wednesday only to see it rained out. The contest was rescheduled as part of a twin-bill Sunday.

Hyndman has won five in a row since losing 10-9 to Mt. Savage on May 27. Included in the

Reds Defeat Phillies, 4-1

Four-Run Inning Breaks Game Open

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Cincinnati Reds, vying for the National League lead, exploded for four runs in the eighth inning Friday night to beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-1, for the ninth straight time without a loss.

The Reds knocked out starter Johnny Buzhardt with three straight singles to tie the score and Jerry Lynch's pinch-double off Ken Lehman put the Reds ahead to stay. The insurance runs came with Frank Sullivan on the mound on Eddie Kasko's sacrifice and Sullivan's error.

For a time it looked like Buzhardt might end Cincinnati's mastery over the Phillies. Before the explosion he had held the Reds to two hits and had a 1-0 lead thanks to Don Demeter's homer in the seventh.

Ken Hunt was the winner, his seventh against three losses. He was relieved for a pinch hitter in the eighth and Jim Brosnan finished. Buzhardt suffered his seventh loss against two victories. Hunt now has won four of his last five decisions.

The big Cincinnati inning started with singles by Gordon Coleman and Gene Freese off Buzhardt. Walby potted single Coleman home to knot the count and Lynch then doubled Freese in.

After Gus Bell grounded out, Kasko hit a long fly to center to bring home Pete Whisenant, who ran for Post, and Lynch scored when Sullivan failed to back up catcher Clay Darymple on the throw to the plate.

Tigers Beat Yanks, 4-2, Share Lead

N.Y. Drops Behind Detroit, Indians

DETROIT (UPI) — Phil Regan's six-hit pitching and five New York errors carried the Detroit Tigers to a 4-2 victory over the Yankees and into a share of the American League lead Friday night.

The loss dropped New York 12 percentage points behind the Tigers and the Cleveland Indians who defeated the Baltimore Orioles Friday night.

Regan went the distance and walked only one man and fanned four as he won his seventh game of the year against two defeats.

Three Yankee errors—two by right fielder Roger Maris—let in one Detroit run and set up another as the Tigers jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first inning. Bill Bruton's single sent Jake Wood to second and when Maris bobbled the ball, Wood scored. Bruton going to third on his wild throw.

Bruton then scored when third baseman Cletis Boyer threw wild to first on Al Kaline's grounder.

Detroit picked up another run in the third inning when Kaline doubled off the leftfield wall, sending Bruton, who had singled, home.

Skowron's fourth home run of the year into the right-center-field bleachers, after Yogi Berra's single, cut the Tiger Margin to 3-2 in the fifth.

But that was as close as the Yanks got. Detroit added an insurance tally in its half of the fifth when Bruton singled on a hit and run play, scoring Jake Wood from first.

Morrow Loses In British Golf

Walker, Bonallack In Finals Today

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP) — Ralph Morrow, unheralded Oklahoma City airman, was beaten Friday in the semifinals of the British Amateur Golf Championship by Jimmy Walker, a grizzled 40-year-old campaigner who also whipped Irishman Joe Carr, the defending champion.

After the 27-year-old American had rallied to square the match on the 16th Walker sunk a 12-foot putt to win the 17th and halved the last hole for his 1-up victory.

Michael Bonallack, 26-year-old British Walker Cup player, will be Walker's opponent in Saturday's 36-hole final. Bonallack defeated Laurie Foster of Scotland, 6 and 4, in the semis.

Morrow, the last U.S. survivor of 29 who started after the title Monday, matched the fighting Scot shot for shot in a nerve-rattling match over the windswept 6,675-yard Turnberry links.

Morrow made the semifinals by defeating Geoff Dixon, a 23-year-old English club golfer, 3 and 2.

Cardinals Beat Pirates, 5-2, With 11 Hits

Gibson Pitches 4th Victory Of Season

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Right-hander Bob Gibson nullified his sporadic wildness with a five-hit Friday night and was backed by an 11-hit barrage by his St. Louis teammates to set down the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-2.

Notching his fourth victory and his second against the World Champions this season, Gibson allowed six walks and a wild pitch but managed to bear down in the clutch. He helped himself with two hits and an RBI.

Loser Harvey Haddix was chased in the seventh inning when nine batters went to the plate and three runs came across. Haddix had retired 11 consecutive batters, then permitted the bases to be loaded on back to back singles by Bill White and Ken Boyer and the only Cardinal walk to Don Tausig.

Bob Lillis hit into a force play for one run but Ken McCarver and Gibson each singled produced the tallies which raised the Cardinal lead to 4-1. In the eighth, Bill White doubled off Fred Green, Boyer grounded out and Tausig singled home the final Card run.

The Cardinals got their first run in the second inning on Boyer's double and Tausig's single. A walk by Bob Skinner, Bill Mazeroski's infield out, Haddix's single and Bill Virdon's sacrifice fly gave the Pirates a run in the third inning. In the ninth, Don Hoak drew a walk and scored on Skinner's double for the second Pirate tally.

The Pirates missed a scoring chance in the fourth inning when Hoak bounced a two-out triple against the rightfield wall and Skinner walked. But Mazeroski hit into a force play to end the threat.

Mazeroski again failed to deliver in the sixth inning when he grounded out for the third out with two runners aboard.

Livie Says Fairgo Race Meet Can't Be Shifted

12-Day Program
Set Sept. 11-23

BALTIMORE (AP)—R. Bruce Livie, chairman of the Maryland Racing Commission, said Friday there is "no chance" the racing dates assigned to the Cumberland half-mile track will be shifted to Timonium this fall.

Livie said Cumberland's 12-day meeting this year will have to be held on home grounds because Maryland law prohibits shifting dates more than two years in a row.

The Western Maryland track's management, the Cumberland Fair Association, had requested in 1959 and 1960 that its racing days be transferred to Timonium. The racing commission, while discouraging the practice, approved the shifts.

"Under the present laws it is impossible to move the Cumberland meeting again this year. A meeting can be moved when an emergency exists and, under the rules, an emergency is limited to two years," Livie said.

"The Cumberland meeting," he added, "has been shifted for two years. Now they must race on home grounds."

"I'm certain the Cumberland management is aware of this. They have already promised the horsemen that purses will be on a par with those at the other minor tracks."

Cumberland officials reportedly have assured the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association the minimum purse during this year's meeting, scheduled Sept. 11-23, will not drop below $100.

The track's 1959 and 1960 meetings were transferred because of

Dapper Phillies Defeat Yankees For 2d Win, 3-1

DAPPER DIVISION

Phillies 3-1 0 Giants 1-1
Cardinals 2-0 Yankees 0-2
Red Sox 1-1 Pirates 0-2

The Phillies supplied an excellent pitching effort by the Yankees' Elliott yesterday to hand the visitors a 3-1 defeat at East Side field in a Dapper Division contest in the Dapper Dan Little League. The win was the second in a row for the Phillies.

Elliott held the defending champions to three hits but was the victim of a home run by the Phillies' Steve Walters and a couple of misplays by his teammates which gave the winners their runs.

The Yankees took a 1-0 lead when Rick Renotas smacked a long home run to deep centerfield in the second, but the Phillies bounced back on a walk, error, hit batsman and an infield out to tie the score.

Walters broke the deadlock in the fourth with his line drive homer to right-centerfield and the victors added an insurance tally in the fifth on a walk, error and Terry Deremer's single.

Deremer was the winning hurler, going the distance on a five-hitter, striking out 11 and walking four. Elliott took the loss fanning seven and walking only two.

Joe Ashby's catch of Smith's bid for extra bases in deep centerfield was the fielding highlight. The results:

YANKEES 010 000-1 5-2
PHILLIES 010 11x-3 3-1
Elliott and Pratt, Terry Deremer and Mosier, Naylor (5), HR-Renotas (Yankees); Walters (Phillies)

Jo Ann Prentice Grabs Golf Lead At Harrisburg

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Trim Jo Ann Prentice of Birmingham, Ala., grabbed the first-round lead of the Women's Eastern Open golf tournament Friday with a two-under-par 70.

She held a one-stroke lead over Mary Lena Faulk, Sea Island, Ga., and Shirley Englehorn, Spokane, Wash. They both registered 71's at the open site, the Range End Golf Club in nearby Dillsburg.

Miss Prentice fashioned a par 36 on the front nine and then birdied two holes in the stretch for a 34 and her one-stroke lead.

Defending champion Mickey Wright found herself three strokes off the pace as she three-putted two greens en route to a 73. She trailed blond Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif., and Marlene Hage, Pittsburgh, who both scored par 72's.

Louise Suggs, one of the pre-tourney favorites, finished the day with a 74 to tie three others for fifth in the day's standings.

Bob Bailey Signed For $100,000 By Pittsburgh Pirates

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, who blazed a bonus trail 11 years ago when they paid $100,000 to a California prospect, turned again to the golden state Friday for a prize nugget in shortstop Bob Bailey.

Bailey, who hit .500, 450 and 475 in three seasons with Woodrow Wilson High in Long Beach, signed for the biggest bonus in baseball history—believed to be more than $150,000.

The 18-year-old prospect signed the contract then left immediately with his girl friend to join their classmates for commencement exercises.

The shortstop's father, Paul Bailey, who aimed for a major league goal for Bob, said:

"This is a dream fulfilled." It was a father-son tradition that was devoutly wished for, Bob Feller, who was tutored from childhood by his father, and Mickey Mantle, guided by parental ambition, achieved baseball heights. The Pirates paid Paul Pettit, southpaw pitching phenomenon $100,000 in 1950 because of the boy's six no-hitters with Limita (Calif.) High School. But Pettit's arm went dead and he tried a comeback in the minors as an outfielder.

DETROIT (AP) — The University of Detroit said Friday basketball players Charles North and John Morgan have been dismissed from school "because of their admitted contacts with individuals involved in the nationwide basketball conspiracy."

A statement by the Very Rev. Laurence V. Britt, president of the University of Detroit, said:

"It is the understanding of university officials that both players appeared voluntarily before the New York grand jury, at the request of the district attorney, and agreed to cooperate fully as witnesses. Further details are a matter of grand jury record and must await announcement of proper authorities."

Both students were regulars on the Titan team, which went to the 1961 National Invitational Tournament.

Derby Night Ends In Triple Deadlock

Winning teams were Pat Orndorff and Charles Pinto, Rex Beck and J. S. Cook and Francis Cook and Tom Stewart. The three teams finished with scores of 34.

Closest to the pin on No. 4 was Harry Deahl while Ben Hughes won the prize on No. 7.

Vandegrift Is Low Bidder On Housing Project

Two Firms Seek Frostburg Contract

The John I. Vandegrift Company of Cumberland this week submitted the lower of two bids for the construction of Frostburg's first low-rent public housing project.

The Vandegrift firm bid $661,200 for the construction of the 50-unit development. The other bid, for $679,795, was submitted by the George Construction Company of Cumberland.

Bids for the project were opened Tuesday by the Frostburg Housing Authority.

Plans call for the construction of 25 duplex units comprising 50 dwelling units.

The housing center will be located in the old Junior Order Park.

Plans prepared by S. Russ Minter, local architect, call for the homes to be of split-level design, located in the park so as to retain as many trees as possible.

Access to the new development will be by South Water Street, Parklane, and a proposed extension of Broadway.

About $100,000 has already been spent on land purchase, surveys, architectural fees and office maintenance.

County Issues Seven Permits For Dwellings

Building permits for seven dwellings which the builders estimate will cost a total of $49,500 to construct have just been issued by James G. Stevenson, clerk to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Albert A. Strother, P.O. Box 87, Keyser, obtained a permit yesterday for a $5,000 frame dwelling he plans to build in Election District 31 at McCoolle. It will be 24 by 36 feet in size.

Paul Whiteman, Beechwood Street, Lonaconing, was granted a permit yesterday to build a $3,500 frame dwelling on Lot 10 on the east side of Beechwood Street in Election District 10 at Lonaconing. It will be 28 by 36 feet in size.

Harry R. Fayman, 439 Grand Avenue, was also found guilty of disturbing the peace and fined $15 which was suspended by the magistrate.

The unit, based at Lonaconing, will undergo intensive field training at Indiantown Gap Military Reservation from July 22 to August 5.

The two-week summer encampment is designed to provide practical application of doctrines reservists have studied during weekly two-hour training sessions at Army Reserve centers throughout the year.

Commanded by Capt. Leslie J. Clark, the local reserve unit uses the VFW hall in Lonaconing for training on Monday nights.

Under jurisdiction of the XXI U.S. Army Corps, the 336th MP Bn. will join with nearly 50,000 reservists from Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia in the summer program.

Barron Seeks Federal Use Of Abandoned Mines

BECKLEY, W. Va. (UPI)—Gov. W. W. Barron asked Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges at a conference here to do all he can to get the federal government to locate facilities in the area and make use of worked-out coal mines.

Specifically, Barron urged the Commerce Department to distribute to all federal agencies the so-called "Beckley Brochure" on the area's industrial potential. Barron also asked that the agencies give maximum consideration to locating government facilities here and awarding defense contracts to local firms.

Barron called on Hodges to ask President John F. Kennedy to seek maximum utilization of worked-out mines for defense production, such as missiles and rockets.

"Location of these plants in underground, controlled environments is necessary and would protect them from enemy attack," Barron said.

Hodges and Barron spoke at a conference of local, state and federal officials and interested citizens, to discuss ways in which West Virginia can take advantage of the Area Redevelopment Act recently approved by Congress.

Sens. Jennings Randolph and Robert C. Byrd, both D-W. Va., also addressed the group.

Barron and Hodges agreed that the redevelopment plan is not a cure-all for depressed areas. As Hodges put it, the $461 million in federal funds available to the areas should be regarded as "seed corn" to stimulate local areas to expand their economies.

Investigation Continuing In Shooting Case

Harry M. Smith 'Satisfactory'

The state's attorney's office is continuing an investigation into the shooting of Harry M. Smith, 28, who was wounded about midnight Thursday during an altercation at Homewood Tavern at Greenpoint on the Mt. Savage Road.

As yet no charge has been placed against Eugene Simon Lepley, 613 Henderson Avenue, who is being held at the LaVale barracks.

James S. Getty, state's attorney, said yesterday a number of witnesses are being questioned and no charge has been placed against Lepley pending the outcome of Smith's wounds.

Attaches at Memorial Hospital said Smith is in "satisfactory" condition. He was taken to the hospital in the Corriganville Fire Company ambulance.

Lepley, who was paroled two months ago after serving seven and a half years of a 10-year term in the Maryland Penitentiary, was picked up at a police roadblock early yesterday.

He and two nephews were arrested in the Narrows on U.S. Route 40 by Cpl. Charles H. DeWitt and Tfc. Milton G. Hart after the trio eluded city police, who had spotted them heading west on Henderson Avenue.

Mr. Getty said Trooper Hart and County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya questioned a number of witnesses to the shooting.

Tfc. Hart and Lilya said Smith was shot through the front of both his thighs by a .22 calibre rifle which the wounded man and witnesses said was wielded by Lepley. He was reported not to have sustained serious wounds, although the slug lodged in his left thigh after going through the right thigh.

After the wounding, Lepley drove off in a car operated by his nephew, Robert Wayne Eversole, 20, of 118 Valley Street. Also in the car was Richard Homer Welsh, 32, of RD 1, Bedford, another nephew.

The shooting followed a fight in which the two nephews and Lepley participated with Smith outside the tavern, Tfc. Hart said. Lepley was arrested on November 30, 1953, on a charge of assault with intent to rob an Ellerslie man. He was tried in February 1954 and subsequently given the ten-year term.

He has been in Cumberland since being released from the penitentiary.

State's Attorney Getty said Lepley will probably be tried on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

When the two state troopers stopped the three men in the car, the .22 calibre rifle which was allegedly used in the shooting was still in their possession.

They were at large for an hour and a half before being picked up.

Boy 'Grounded' After Mishap

A local youth whose bicycle struck and injured a girl while he was riding on the sidewalk was "grounded" yesterday for 30 days by city police.

They said they received a complaint at headquarters at 6:35 p. m. that the girl had been hit by the cyclist in the 600 block of North Mechanic Street. She was bruised in the accident.

Police talked with the youth, who is about 14, and also with his father. They decided to impound the bicycle for 30 days.

Police said this is the second time someone has been hit by the cyclist in that neighborhood.

Auto Is Stolen In Bedford, Pa.

Pennsylvania State Police reported last night that a car belonging to a Bedford man was taken from that community yesterday afternoon.

The 1956 Ford four-door sedan with a blue bottom and white top bears Pennsylvania tags 890-UY. Police said the car belongs to D. Allen Whetstone of RD 4, Bedford. He was reported to have left his keys in the car when he parked it in an alley near West Pitt Street.

Auto, Sales Tax Revenues Show Slight Decrease

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Revenue from sales and motor vehicle taxes declined slightly last month from collections for May 1960.

A report released Friday by State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein showed revenues last month totaled $6,328,011, compared with $6,460,567 in May. The decline amounted to 4.7 per cent.

The comptroller said the drop was "seasonal in nature," due mainly to the inclusion of Easter sales this year in April's totals. The 1960 Easter sales were recorded in May.

He also reported revenue received from the spring meetings of Laurel and Pimlico race tracks fell because of decreased wagering.

During Laurel's 28-day meeting, the state received $1,492,920, down $187,249 from the track's spring meeting last year.

The state received $599,850 from Pimlico's 12-day meeting this year, compared with $637,000 in 1960.

Methodists Invite Negroes Into Baltimore Conference

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP)—Some 125,000 Negro Methodists along the nation's Eastern Seaboard were invited Friday to become part of a church conference now composed only of white persons.

The invitation was extended by the Baltimore Annual conference of the Methodist Church embracing about 198,000 Methodists in 546 churches with white membership in Maryland, the District of Columbia and West Virginia's Eastern Panhandle.

In the past, all Negro Methodists have been members of one nationwide church organization known as the Central Jurisdiction. The white churches were divided geographically into regional jurisdictions.

In 1956, the General conference of the Methodist Church — its national governing body — passed an enabling act to permit Negro churches to be absorbed by the various geographical jurisdictions.

Three Groups Invited

Invited Friday to become part of the northeastern region were three all-Negro conferences of Delaware, Washington, D.C., and North Carolina.

The Rev. Napoleon B. Carrington of Baltimore, secretary of the Washington, D. C., conference, estimated all three include 125,000 Negro Methodists in Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia, Virginia, and portions of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York.

Today's action by the Baltimore Conference came on a voice vote. "It was almost unanimously adopted. There wasn't any vote against it that I saw," said the Rev. Orris G. Robinson of Washington, D. C., a district superintendent attending the Westminster meeting.

Dr. Robinson said one other regional organization of the church, in the West, has extended a similar invitation to Negro churches in its area.

Fifth Conference To Act

The Baltimore Conference became the fifth of the northeastern region to act favorably. Two others have yet to do so. Two of the Negro conferences also have approved the move and the third is expected to do so.

The Baltimore Conference also approved Friday an amendment to the church constitution which would increase the number of delegates to meetings of the General Conference every four years. The vote was 462-5. It also would have the General Conference assign and consecrate bishops, now done by regional conferences.

Before becoming effective, the proposed amendment must be voted on by all 100 conferences of the Methodist Church. About 30 have done so thus far.

Religion School Begins Monday At St. Ambrose

The annual summer school in religion at St. Ambrose Catholic Church in Cresapton will begin on Monday at 10 a. m. for children who were in public school grades one to seven this year. Rev. Carol Warner, OFM, Cap., pastor announces.

Classes will dismiss at noon each day. Ursuline Sisters from SS. Peter and Paul's convent, who will be assisted by young ladies of the parish, will conduct the classes.

Prizes will be awarded for best attendance and grades in each class. Plans are being made for a Children's Day in connection with the diamond jubilee of the parish.

Father Carol requests that parents who wish information about registration and transportation call PA 2-4890.

Equity Suits Filed

A number of new equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Leslie Minke vs. John Leslie Minke, Vivian Irene Slider vs. Ronald Royce Slider, Betty Elaine Lewis vs. John Francis Lewis and John J. Idoni vs. Alexa Idoni.

APPOINTED — Roy E. Pepper of Midlothian, president of the Allegany County Teachers Association the past two years, has been appointed a supervisor of instruction in St. Mary's County in Southern Maryland, effective August 1. He has been teaching at Beall Elementary School the last 10 years.

Weed Control Notices Are Being Mailed

Many Complaints Received By City

A number of complaints have been received each day this week on the growths of weeds, brush and poison ivy on vacant lots in the city limits.

All of the complaints are being referred to City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, who is sending letters advising property owners of the condition of the lots.

A copy of Ordinance No. 2194 is included in each letter, which notes that the property will be inspected and that the matter will be turned over to the Street Department if terms of the ordinance are not met.

The ordinance to control weeds on vacant lots, sidewalks and grass plots was adopted September 6, 1960.

It provides that it shall be unlawful for the owner, occupant or the person or firm which controls the land to allow the growth of weeds, grass, brush or other rank vegetation to be more than three inches high, and that it must be "kept free" of such noxious growths as ragweed, milkweed, poison ivy or oak.

The ordinance provides for fines of up to $50 for failure to comply with its terms.

It also provides that the City Engineer must notify the Street Department, which shall cause the growths to be removed. Costs of the work is to be added to tax bills and become a lien on the property.

If the property is not cleared during the time allowed, the city engineer must notify the Street Department, which shall cause the growths to be removed. Costs of the work is to be added to tax bills and become a lien on the property.

Fire Trucks Pass Tests

All pumers used by the Cumberland Fire Department have passed Board of Fire Underwriters tests, according to Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker.

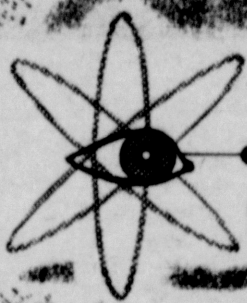

The equipment was tested recently by Assistant Fire Chief Robert C. Long after it was readied for summer operation.

MotORIZED equipment includes a ladder and two pumper trucks, an emergency truck, utility truck and the chief's car at Central Fire Department, one pumper at East Side Fire Company and two each at South End and West Side fire companies.

All equipment gets a complete inspection in the spring and fall, and first line pumers are run for 10 minutes at 8 a. m. and 6 p. m. each day to make sure they are in satisfactory operating condition.

County Commends Safe-Teen Group

John J. Rowan, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, yesterday sent a letter of congratulation to Cumberland Chapter 377, Safe-Teen Inc., for its successful promotion of the second annual safety check.

Singer Tries Drama On TV

Guy Mitchell, who never took singing lessons, made his mark in the entertainment world as a singer.

In his new role—co-starring as Denver Detective George Romack, in NBC-TV's "Whispering Smith" series—he will be attempting to score as a dramatic actor.

In his series, Mitchell does very little singing. "But, what a cowboy he makes. He's a natural," says co-star Audie Murphy.

Raised in San Francisco, near the slaughterhouses of Colma and Butchertown, Guy in his early youth saw the cattle being brought in for marketing—and during summers worked on ranches in the San Jacquin Valley.

KING-SIZED ACTRESS — Not all good things come in small packages. There's Joan Shawlee, for instance, who stands six feet tall in heels. Until the advent of really tall men in TV westerns, Joan had a difficulty in getting roles because she towered over all the male leads. Here she looks up to Chuck Connors (The Rifleman) with whom she appeared.

FILMS PILE UP—Actor Steve McQueen, of "Wanted—Dead or Alive" is in great demand by the moviemakers. Currently he's in "The Honey-moon Machine," then in rapid order will come "Hell Is for Heroes" and the "Great Escape."

Barry Sullivan Has Brief Respite From TV

It's been a short vacation for Barry Sullivan, star of "Tall Man," the popular western seen on NBC-TV Saturday nights. Only a few weeks ago the actor wound up shooting the season's episodes.

Now that he's just starting to relax he's been summoned back to the set to start work on the programs coming up in the fall. The producer wants to have enough of the backlog when the new season starts.

Boxing master Moyer is a far more polished and seasoned fighter (he holds a decision over welter champ Emile Griffith) whose combination punching is a delight to see.
